IN THE BEGINNING
By William A. Cook

In the beginning, God created men and women.
Recognizing failure, god created the computer
in its own image.

Therefore, it has no mouth, no stomach, no kidneys,
No bladder, no eyes, no ears, no hands, no feet,
No prostate, no heart, therefore, no illness.

God kept memory and limited processing (i.e. thinking).
Nothing intense that could cause problems:
A little calculating, a little go to or go to if, a little reading,
And STOP.

God eliminated emotions, powers of association, speculation,
Nervous system, left side of the brain, the heart, frustrations,
Fear and loathing, righteousness, and curiosity.

God kept logic and kept speed. God dropped evolutions
Time corrosive depreciation of the body and the mind,
And substituted a positive process of up-grading
To ever greater degrees of perfection.

And for all this improvement, God charges less and less!
